What information is collected?

Information on the RecyclingStar.org website is gathered in two ways: passively through our site's technology; and actively if you send us information directly on this website. When you visit our site, our software automatically collects some information from your computer. The information includes the unique Internet address assigned to your computer, your Internet service provider, your browser type and version, and your operating system.

We also collect information when you voluntarily submit it to us. For example, if you ask for more information on STAR's services, we may store in our files the information you provide and use it for marketing purposes. Similarly, if you contact us through our site to sign-up for our electronic newsletters, we may collect and store in our files the information you provide and use it to keep you informed. When submitting information to this website, we collect basic identification information that you supply such as name, address and telephone numbers. We may also collect other information you supply that enables us to answer your questions. Online payments are directed to a secure site maintained by Soft-Pak, an Internet Certified payment hosting agent. Your provision of this information is entirely voluntary, but if you choose not to provide certain personal information, we may not be able to respond to your requests and provide you with additional information.

How We Use the Information

We use the information you provide about yourself to respond to your inquiries about our products and services and to provide you with additional information about our company. We also use information that we collect to improve the design and content of our website and to improve our marketing efforts. Information collected via mobile devices, e.g., text messages, may be used to improve the performance of our software.

Except for any personally identifiable information we may collect from you under the guidelines established in this Privacy Policy, any information or material sent to STAR outside of our secure forms will be considered non-confidential and non-proprietary. By sending STAR any information or material outside of our secure forms, you grant STAR an unrestricted, irrevocable license to use, reproduce, display, perform, modify, transmit and distribute those materials or information, and you also agree that STAR is free to use any ideas, concepts, know-how or techniques that you send us for any purpose.

Disclosure of User Information

Except as noted below, we do not share or sell personally identifiable information collected on this website with third parties without your consent. We may engage companies to work with or on behalf of STAR to improve our services or to assist us in administering the website. These parties may only use personally identifiable information gathered from our website in conjunction with the services they provide for us.

We may also disclose personal information if we are required, or believe in good faith that we are required, to do so by law, a government inquiry, or in connection with defending or enforcing the rights, property or safety of STAR, our users or others.

If we are involved in a transaction in which we sell the company or a portion of the company, buy or merge with another company, or reorganize for any reason, we may transfer some or all of your information as part of that transaction.

Our Commitment to Security

Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your personal information, STAR cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us. Once we receive your transmission, we will use reasonable measures to ensure its security on our systems. For example, we currently use Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) technology to encrypt the personal information you transmit through our site. We also use advanced technology to encrypt all the collected data that is stored in our databases.
